Invitation

We are pleased to invite you to the "AquaSur Seafood Tech Summit" to be held on March 2nd, 2022 in Puerto Montt, Chile.

AquaSur is the most important seafood convention in the southern hemisphere. The event will last for 2 hours and will be structured so you can attend physically or remotely. The aim of the event is to bring technology developers closer to different stakeholders within the salmon farming space in Latin America. Each participant will count with a time slot to present their company/innovation/technology product, either at the stage or through a pre-recorded message. After all participants have finished presenting, we will host a networking event so people can exchange contact details. For those abroad, we are happy to help you connecting with other on-site event participants through digital channels.
